

The experience of those who have been part of Catholics Returning Home

With great apprehension, I approached the church for the first class of "Catholics Returning Home". What had sounded like a good idea when I first signed up, now seemed overwhelming. I had been unsure of going to church as I did not understand many of the procedures. Throughout the course, these procedures were explained and interpreted in a very relaxed and non-judgmental setting. I now consider these sessions a "journey" and not merely information classes. Looking back a year later, I wonder what took me so long to commit to returning to a faith that had always been there for me.

– Barb

Catholics Returning Home was a positive experience and highly instrumental in my transition back into the Catholic Church. Although baptized Catholic, I was very much "unchurched". Catholics Returning Home was my doorway of opportunity. A time for me to learn and relearn my faith, ask questions, express concern and share personal experiences. I was ministered to by a team of dedicated volunteers who knowledgeably and patiently assisted me in finding my path back to the fold. Catholics Returning Home truly lived up to the name: I was welcomed home.
